FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Albion resident joins HealthReach Community Health Centers Governing Board of Directors

WATERVILLE – HealthReach Community Health Centers President and CEO Connie Coggins is pleased to announce that Albion resident Lois Bouchard has joined its Governing Board of Directors.

Lois Bouchard retired recently after 29 years of service to HealthReach Community Health Centers. She has expressed a strong interest in continuing her relationship with and contribution to HealthReach through Board membership.

“I worked at Lovejoy for 29 years and it was a great job. I felt that providing health care services in our rural areas was important,” said Bouchard. “Even before I thought of retiring, I knew that I would like to be on the Board. I still feel very committed to Lovejoy and the high quality health care that HealthReach provides in local Maine communities.”

Bouchard previously served as the Practice Manager of Lovejoy Health Center in Albion. In addition, she actively participated in a number of organization-wide committees such as the Provider Executive Committee and Operational Performance Improvement Committee. She also spearheaded the customer service portion of new employee orientation.

HealthReach Community Health Centers is a system of eleven Federally Qualified Health Centers located in central and western Maine. Dedicated providers deliver high-quality, affordable primary medical care to medically underserved residents in over 80 rural communities. HealthReach is a private, non-profit organization with a 39-year history, funded by patient fees, grants and individual donations. For further information on HealthReach, visit HealthReachCHC.org.
